REINKE: PRECISION IRRIGATION

Reinke has the precision irrigation products to monitor and operate numerous pivots from one location. With integrated platforms you can quickly view the status of your irrigation system, weather and crop sensor, allowing you to make decisions on the go.

- Remote Management - The Reinke remote management comprises the RC10 hardware and software, ReinCloud. The irrigation system can be operated remotely from any place, at any time.
- Electronic Swing Arm Corner (ESAC™) - The ESAC uses sequential sprinkler zones and provides electronic zone control based on GPS positioning. You can virtually eliminate under and over water throughout your field corners with the ESAC controls.
- Variable Rate Irrigation (VRI) - Using VRI, allows you to create unique field prescriptions to apply precise amounts of water to defined sections of the field. The prescriptions can be calculated according to numerous variables and used with almost any pivot or lateral move irrigation system.
